DISTRIBUTION & WHOLESALE INSURANCE SERVICES

At NSM Insurance Group, our goal is to protect our clients' success. We look to understand your operation, and then to build a program around your expectations. Our role is a trusted business partner you will rely upon as a resource beyond standard insurance and risk management programs.

Distribution and wholesale trade firms are essential to the economy. They simplify the flow of product, payment and information by acting as intermediaries between the manufacturer and the end user.

In addition to selling goods and moving products to customers, wholesalers provide services such as installation, service and repair work and also modify, repackage, or re-label products. As an intermediary, wholesalers and distributors present a diverse set of exposures from product liability to the transportation of goods, to the stockpiling of inventory.

At NSM, we understand these inherent exposures and help our clients to develop a long range plan that will help them to regain control of their insurance expenses.
